DETAILED ACTION

This is a second office action for serial number 09/163771, entitled Organic I-Beam Soffit, filed on September 30, 1998.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 29-31 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Anthony, US Patent # 5,540,015.

Anthony discloses the claimed invention a soffit/shelter/roof overhang/ wall structure as shown in figures 1, 1A and 2 comprising an I-joist having an elongate web (22) is secured to a pair of flanges (20, 26) on the elongated edges thereof. One flange (26) is secured to the wall structure (32), the other flange (26) is secured to the roof overhang (34). The soffit extends along a portion of the perimeter of the shelter as shown in figure 1. The roof overhang (34) comprises fascia (at 36) where wherein one of the flanges (26) is fixed to the fascia (20 by 22 – column 4, lines 1-3). The soffit extends at generally a right angle to the wall, and the I-joist is formed of organic matter (i.e. wooden components). A plurality of rafters (40) form a part of the roof of the shelter, with the flange (26) being secured to, and extending between, the rafters (40) via elements (34).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

Art Unit: 3635

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 35 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Anthony in view of Pinckney, Jr, US Patent # 3,256,654.

Anthony discloses the claimed invention as stated above, except for a plurality of rafters, with one of the flanges of the I-joist being fixed to the rafters and traveling between the rafters. Pinckney teaches that it is known in the art to provide an I-joist (figure 1) having an elongate web (10) between flanges 18, (12/50), the soffit secured to the wall (14) via flanges (12/50), and to the roof overhang (see attached figure 1) via flange (18). The soffit at a right angle to the wall structure and the flange (18) is fixed to and travels between a plurality of rafters (20 – as shown in figures 1 and 2 at the top view). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to provide a plurality of rafters as taught by Pinckney with the structure of Anthony in order to provide a complete roof structure that would hide the rafters or the eaves from view from the ground and to give the building a more finished appearance (column 1, lines 16-20).

Claim 36 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Anthony.

Anthony discloses the claimed invention as stated above, however there is no specific mention that the rafters are I-beams. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to use I-beams for the rafters in Anthony, based upon known construction/roofing techniques at the time the invention was made. The resulting system remains functionally equivalent, since the I-joist soffit is still secured to the rest of the shelter's components, as intended, regardless of what type of rafter is used for the roof.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 38-45 are allowed.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 38-45 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

In response to the applicants argument that claim 29 should be in condition for allowance based on previous indication of allowable subject matter of claim 37, the limitations within claim 29 that were incorporated have been found to be readable on the Anthony reference, the examiner has included her interpretation of the limitations added above within the office action.
